

Wildix Browser Based Unified Communications.

Wildix offers an easy-to-use, real time communications and collaboration platform, fully managed and supported by the award winning Bluecube team.

The Wildix communications platform gives every user access to a broad range of flexible working tools. Users can manage audio and video calls or video conferences from a single browser window that also allows file sharing, group instant messaging, visual availability and locations status of colleagues, SMS messaging and much more. No software or updates need to be installed on this new and exciting browser based platform. Web RTC (real time communication) allows a visitor to your website to see the availability of your team and to communicate either by chat, audio call, video call or screen share. Users can also seamlessly manage calls between their desk phone, PC or mobile app, giving them the flexibility to work when they want, where they want and on any device.
